PETR WEIGL

Petr Weigl is an artist specialising in remarkable contemporary art pieces created in ceramic, concrete and metals. Son of a Czech émigré born in England, Petr trained as a graphic designer before following his muse and dedicating himself to ceramics at Central St. Martin's in 2001.

Petr finds inspiration from his past, present and how he perceives himself in the world. This predominantly breaks down into a fascination of people, psychology and inherent interactions. Also and equally weighted the allure of 'mother nature', boasting her plethora of mathematical patterns; in imperfect perfection.

Each art piece transforms, magnifies and captures a complex blend of philosophy, emotion and self-reference. Petr's striking works which are deceptively simple upon first glance, growing in complexity over time revealing narratives within.

Petr Weigl's pristine artworks are of the most immaculate finish and quality, this stunning collection breathes a certain elegance and calmness, subtly reflecting our urban lives.
